Dear Friends and Colleagues,

The organizing committee is pleased to cordially invite you to the 13th Annual conference of Indian Society of Hospital Waste Management, being organized at King George's Medical University U. P. Lucknow.

About Lucknow

Lucknow, the city of "Nawabs" boasts of many Scientific and Historical Institutions, like the Industrial Institute of Toxicological Research (IITR), Central Drug Research Institute (CDRI), National Botanical Research Institute (NBRI), IIM, Imambaras and Shahid Smarak to name a few. The conference would be held in the modern Scientific Convention Centre of the prestigious King George's Medical University. The college has just completed 100 years of glory (1911-2011).

Lucknow is known for its art, culture and warmth and is famous for its "Tahzeeb" of "Pehle Aap". It is known world over for its "Chikan-kari"- Hand Embroidery. The Lucknow Gharana of Kathak Dance evolved here. Tunday Kabab and Kakori Kababs are mouth watering delicacies. Malai Makkhan and Dussheri Mangoes are special to this place.

There is a lot to see around Lucknow as well, may it be a day's excursion to Ayodhya, few days trip to Jim Corbett Forest or Nainital. Visit to Varanasi, Allahabad (Sangam), Agra, Dudhwa Forest can be pre or post fixed with the main conference.

You and your family will be our valued guests from the time you arrive at Lucknow. You shall be received at the airport and railway station and escorted to your respective places of stay.

About the Conference

Recent technological advances in providing healthcare has made the waste management multifarious. Safety of the patients, healthcare providers, waste handlers and the immediate environs of the healthcare providing centers is paramount. This requires a broad landscape ranging from the choice of tools used for providing healthcare right till their safe and apt disposal. So, tactical planning, and out of the box solutions for straightforward and easy to implement maneuvers for managing the healthcare waste are needed. ISHWMCON2013 will be a stage to appraise the road travelled thus far in this context, identify the roadblocks ahead and formulate a plan to surmount them. The conference shall provide an excellent opportunity for interaction among the vast panorama of academicians, policy makers, medical practitioners, students and others to achieve this aim. We look forward to an enthusiastic participation from all committed to better healthcare waste management.
